SEAWEED ANIMAL FEED SUPPLEMENT

Our poultry feed ingredient is a 100% natural, mineral-rich choice for both broiler and layer chickens. The seaweeds in Nutri-San Poultry are carefully selected for their nutritional and bioactive compounds which together promote healthy productive birds.

Prebiotics within our seaweed blend work to optimise gut health, resulting in better feed digestion and absorption of nutrients. In broilers, this delivers improvements in feed efficiency, increased body weight and maximum meat production after maturity.

For layers, our supplements provide the micro and macro minerals and proteins needed for strong healthy hens. Increased mineral uptake also results in marked improvements in eggshell quality and viability of fertilized eggs.

In both applications, an enhanced gut microbiome delivers improved performance in bird health and productivity while providing a sustainable, environmentally friendly solution for the poultry farming industry.
